

Table of Content

Abstract of the Report	1
Part I: History of the Liberalization of Foreign Direct Investment in Japan (from the 1950s to the 1980s)	4
Chapter 1: Trends Prior to the OECD Admission (1964) – Period of Industrial Protection –.....	4
(1) From the Enactment of the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Control Law (the Foreign Exchange Law) and the Law Concerning Foreign Investment (the Foreign Capital Law) (1950) to the Establishment of the General Framework of Liberalization of International Trade and Foreign Exchange (1960)	4
1) Enactment of the Foreign Exchange Law, and that of the Foreign Capital Law, a special law of the Foreign Exchange Law (1950), and their revisions in phases....	4
2) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the 1950-1960 Period.....	5
3) Japan’s International Trade in the 1950-1960 Period.....	6
(2) From the Establishment of the General Framework of Liberalization of International Trade and Foreign Exchange (1960) to the Admission to OECD (1964).....	6
1) Policies of the Japanese Government and the Ministry of Finance on Foreign Capital Inflow in the 1960-1964 Period.....	6
2) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the 1960-1964 Period.....	8
Chapter 2: Trends from the OECD Admission to the Repeal of the Foreign Capital Law (Integration to the Foreign Exchange Law, 1980) – Foreign Capital Inflow during the Regulatory Relaxation Period and Its Background –.....	8
(1) Transition to an IMF Article VIII Nation, the OECD Admission and Policy Responses.....	8
(2) History of Liberalization of Capital (Foreign Direct Investment) starting in 1967 (From the Initial Round of Capital Liberalization in 1967 to the Fifth Round of Capital Liberalization in 1973).....	9
(3) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the 1964-1980 Period	9
1) Analysis by Industry.....	9
2) Analysis by Country and Region	10
(4) Japan’s International Trade in the 1964-1980 Period	11
Chapter 3: Trends after the Repeal of the Foreign Capital Law (an approximately 10-year period up to 1989) – Foreign Capital Inflow in the Period of Liberalization and Its Background –	12
(1) Amendment of the Foreign Exchange Law (1979) and Measures to Promote Foreign Direct Investment	12
(2) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the 1980-1989 period	13
1) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the First Half of the 1980s (Chronological Analysis)	13
2) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the Second Half of the 1980s (Chronological Analysis)	14

3) Foreign Corporations in Japan in the 1980s (Macroeconomic Perspectives)	15
Chapter 4: Supplementary Explanations to the History of Liberalization of Foreign Direct Investment in Japan	16
(1) Supplementary Explanations about Macroeconomic Trends of Foreign Direct Investment in Japan	16
(2) Supplementary Explanations about Changes in Foreign Direct Investment in Japan (by Industry) from the 1960s to the 1980s	16
(3) Supplementary Explanations about Changes in Foreign Direct Investment in Japan (by Region) from the 1960s to the 1980s	17
Part II : Insight Gained from Japan’s Experience of Foreign Direct Investment Liberalization and Insight from the Perspectives of External Direct Investment	18
Chapter 1: Suggestions about the Importance of “Sequencing” and that of Flexible Response	18
Chapter 2: Potential for the Growth of the Industries of Countries Accepting Foreign Direct Investment	19
(1) Perspectives of Receiving Advanced Technology and High Production efficiency	20
(2) Perspectives of Strengthening and Developing Specific Industries of the Host Countries	21
(3) Suggestions about the Growth of Industries in the Host Countries as a Result of Accepting Foreign Direct Investment	22
Chapter 3: Expansion and Sophistication of Investment and International Trade in Countries Receiving Foreign Direct Investment	23
(1) Perspectives of Sophistication of Investment and International Trade in Countries Receiving Foreign Direct Investment	23
(2) Perspectives of an Expansion and Sophistication of Investment and International Trade in Countries Receiving Foreign Direct Investment	24
(3) Suggestions about an Expansion and Sophistication of Investment and International Trade in Countries Receiving Foreign Direct Investment	26
Chapter 4: Specific Examples of Policies to Attract Foreign Direct Investment and the Verification of their Effectiveness	27
(1) Cases of Policies to Attract Foreign Direct Investment and the Verification of their Effectiveness	27
(2) Suggestions about Policies to Attract Foreign Direct Investment	29
References	31